

Chapter 8 Font Manager

A bug was fixed in ChooseFont. ChooseFont would cause the system to hang if any update events were pending when the call was made. This has been corrected, choose font no longer hangs, and update events are left on the stack for processing by the application.

In addition to the fixes, the chooseFont dialog is now generated with a newWindow2 call from a template that can be kept in a resource file. This allows easier internationalization of this call.

